

IFIS-Online-Colloquium

The Institute for Integral Studies invites you to the IFIS Online Colloquium n° 12:

Time:	Wednesday, February 21, 2018 , at 20.00-22.00 h , Zoom meeting.
Presenter:	Dr. Tom Murray , Founder of Open Way Solutions ; Senior Research Fellow, Univ. of Massachusetts School of Computer Science
Topic:	StageLens: using artificial intelligence to score sentence completion tests of ego development

Details

I will describe our application of artificial intelligence (machine learning) technology to the automated scoring of developmental center of gravity sentence completion tests of ego development. The current implementation of the technology is trained on data scored using the STAGES model, a derivative of the Loevinger/Cook-Greuter framework. To date we have achieved auto-scoring accuracy of +/- level with 95% confidence. I will describe the technology, the STAGES model, current and potential applications, and ethical considerations in scaling up developmental scoring. Participant questions, reflections, and ideas on the project will be invited.
