

IFIS-Online-Colloquium

The Institute for Integral Studies invites you to the IFIS Online Colloquium n° 22:

Time:	Wednesday, March 20th, 2019 , at 20.00-22.00 h , Zoom meeting.
Presenter:	Jan Artem Henriksson , SelfLeaders (Stockholm)
Topic:	Culture Transformation and Values based Leadership

Details

Values are transpersonal needs and ideals, connecting us to the essence of our humanity. In times where individual self-expression for the benefit of the greater good becomes ever more necessary, we also need clear inner reference points from where to operate. SelfLeaders help organizations become more values-driven and create cultures of responsible self-leaders. The method is based on the latest science in adult development and motivational psychology. It is about action learning and integration in everyday work and life. "Values in Action" uses a smart web-app for maximum interaction and for mapping personal and shared organisational values. In addition to working with corporate organizations and managers, SelfLeaders provide courses and modules at several academic institutions including Harvard University, Stockholm School of Economics, Royal Institute of Technology, and make the digital tools available for free to non-profits, NGOs and schools. Participants of the Colloquium will be offered a possibility to do a free values mapping (12-15 min reflection) before the session.
